TRADER'S ANGER AS MARKET STAYS OPEN IN 'DANGEROUS' WINDS

Stallholder says forecast storm damaged gazebos and could have led to people being injured

Report by Henry James

A TRADER is angry that Ormskirk Market was allowed to go ahead last Saturday (December 4) despite a forecast for strong winds which he says made it dangerous for stall holders and shoppers.

The borough council say the decision to not cancel the market was taken on site and "took into account weather conditions and traders' feedback."

One trader, however, said the situation was "extremely dangerous" as the winds picked up in the afternoon damaging some of the gazebo style stalls.

He says the market should have been cancelled as strong winds were forecast.

The market trader wrote to the Our West Lancashire group: "I operate on Ormskirk Market two days a week. The market's manager opens the gates, goes home and returns to close the gates, there is no one on duty in-between.

The market was open despite a forecast for strong winds.

"On Saturday the market was allowed to go on even though gusts of up to 50mph were forecast.

"The whole episode was extremely dangerous, I personally lost my gazebo roof and all traders had to rush on and dismantle.

"If anyone had been hurt there would of been no one available to help."

Ormskirk Councillor Ian Davis said: "When the changes to the market were made in 2020, we discovered that the council's health and safety manager at the time was not even consulted.

"We raised concerns then about the suitability of gazebos in strong winds compared to the traditional market stalls and were assured the market would be cancelled if gales were forecast.

"It's very concerning then to have market traders themselves expressing their concerns after gazebos roofs went flying in the bad weather on Saturday.

"This mustn't happen again as someone could be injured."

A spokesman for West Lancashire Borough Council responded: "A council officer was on site at the market at 6.30am.

"During the first few hours, the weather conditions were changeable but the market was still able to go ahead.

"We were keen to help to support the market traders to operate, particularly given the busy time of the year for retail and the difficult trading conditions of the last two years.

"We take the safety of our traders and shoppers very seriously and the decision to not cancel the market was taken on site taking into account the weather conditions and traders' feedback."

Patrols are stepped up to target drink and drug-driving

Anybody found to be over limit 'will face the full force of the law'

Report by Henry James

Lancashire Police have launched their annual drink and drug-driving campaign

LANCASHIRE Police's annual drink and drug-driving campaign has launched and they have warned that anybody found to be over the limit will face the full force of the law.

Police will be out and about over the coming month targeting those who get behind the wheel while under the influence of alcohol or drugs.

Officers will be stopping drivers at checkpoints and conducting roadside breath and drug tests, as well as targeting people where intelligence suggests they may be driving under the influence.

Police have said they know everybody will want to indulge in some festive cheer – especially after missing out on many of the usual celebrations last year – but they want to make it clear they will not tolerate anybody putting lives in danger.

Chief Inspector Pat Worden of the Lancashire Police TacOps team, said: "Over the next month we will be out and about on the roads and will be stopping motorists at checkpoints right across the county doing alcohol and drug screening tests. We will not hesitate to prosecute anybody who is found to be over the legal limit for alcohol or drugs.

"We know people will want to enjoy a drink over Christmas but we want to make it clear we will be taking a zero tolerance approach to drink or drug-driving. Please take a moment to consider the consequences of getting behind the wheel while under the influence, not least that you could kill or seriously injure yourself or someone else.

"The message is a simple one: say no to drink and drug-driving so we can all make it home safely for Christmas this year."

Drivers risk up to six months' imprisonment, an unlimited fine and a substantial driving ban if they are caught driving while above the legal limit. Anyone who causes a death while drink or drug driving faces up to 14 years' imprisonment.

Work starts on project to support those at risk of homelessness

The project, which will be named 'The Birchwood Foyer', is being built on land located in Birch Green which was previously used as a car park.

The land was made available by West Lancashire Borough Council several years earlier for this use, but this did not come to fruition due to various setbacks. However, through the new partnership, this vision is finally being realised.

The development is due to complete in January 2023.

Rosie Cooper MP visited Skelmersdale's Birchwood Centre. She said: "I was delighted to attend this event.

"When complete, the Foyer will serve as a hub for harm prevention and those who use its services will also be able to access the incredible ongoing work of the Birchwood Centre. "I am looking forward to visiting again once this project is complete and will provide support in any way I can."

Wendy Malone, director of Development at Calico Homes said: "This project is something that we're proud to be part of. One of our main priorities is supporting organisations across the region, using the strength and agility of the group to plug the gaps in local service delivery."

Work carried out at last to solve school's flooding problem

Culvert under building cleared of silt as MP says county council should have acted sooner

Report by Henry James

WORK has been carried out to clear a blocked culvert at Aughton Town Green Primary School in a bid to solve the longstanding flooding problem at the site - but MP Rosie Cooper says Lancashire County Council should have acted far sooner to solve the problem.

Classrooms have been flooded several times over the last few years after spells of heavy rain led to water breaching the culvert that runs under the school grounds.

In one recent flooding incident staff were forced to remove a dead rat from its car park.

West Lancashire MP Rosie Cooper has welcomed the improvement work but thinks the county council should have acted sooner.

She had previously asked Boris Johnson to intervene on the issue at Prime Minister's Questions in February.

In the recent work contractors discovered a large deposit of silt in the section of the culvert near to the school, as well as a neighbouring property that had a large concrete ball partially blocking the watercourse.

The silt has now been cleared and the property owner has removed the concrete ball.

Rosie Cooper MP said: "At long last, the council have made actual progress in resolving this problem.

"This has gone on for far too long for what seems to have been a fairly simple solution.

"Lancashire County Council should have investigated the issue properly straight away, rather than wait until they were forced into action by more flooding.

"I am glad that this work has now been done, and I really hope that this will prevent any further flooding incidents at the school.

"The pupils and staff need the stability of knowing they will not be forced out of the classroom any time it rains heavily!

"I have also asked that the council inspect the culvert regularly to ensure silt does not build up again."

Residents raise thousands to help school in Ghana

The Burscough residents who took to the sky for a charity wing walk raising £4,300 and inset, Julie Woods helping out at the school in Ghana.

RESIDENTS of Burscough have raised thousands of pounds for the West Lancashire charity One Little Village set up to help people in Ghana and it has helped fund a school and orphanage.

In September a charity wing walk raised £4,300 while the second 'Burscough Duck Race' in November which saw 282,000 ducks take part raised almost £4,000.

One Little Village has now completed the school they have helped build in Ghana.

A kitchen for the orphanage they support and the money raised has also enabled them to supply the orphanage with two pigs, six goats, 20 chickens and four ducks with the aim being to help the orphanage become self-sufficient.

Julie Woods has travelled over to Ghana again this year to help with the building work and said she is thrilled.

She said: "One Little Village really has helped. Burscough has smashed it!

"Our kids have been unable to go to school during the rainy season in previous years as the school had no windows or doors. But now they can go to school all the year round."

Mum and friends of murdered Alex 'still fighting for justice'

by Henry James

Documentary puts spotlight on case of stab victim from Skelmersdale who was killed in frenzied knife attack in Parbold

THE mother and friends of Alex Davies from Skelmersdale who was murdered in 2019 have spoken on TV about how they are still fighting for justice after his killer spent only two hours in prison after sentencing before being moved to a psychiatric hospital.

MTV's True Life Crime UK highlighted the case of Alex, 18, who was killed by Brian Healless, now 20 and from Chorley, on April 29, 2019. Alex's body was discovered at a secluded area of Parbold Hill known as Alder Covert.

They had met on the dating app Grindr and then arranged - via private social media messages - to meet up in person.

Alex's body was found days later on May 1. The programme highlighted that Alex had been stabbed 128 times. Officers involved in the show said that the murder weapon - a kitchen knife - was found near the body. Alex had also suffered two breaks to his nose, black eyes and bruising to his head.

In 2020 Healless was found guilty at Preston Crown Court of murdering Alex, and was told he must serve at least 24 years in prison.

However, after spending only

Alex's mum Bev speaking on the MTV programme

"two hours" in jail after sentencing Healless was moved to the psychiatric hospital Guild Lodge in Preston where he had been treated before his conviction.

Psychiatrists had said Healless was suffering from paranoid schizophrenia when the murder took place. During the trial, his defence claimed his responsibility for the killing was diminished by his mental state. But this was rejected by jurors.

The police and prosecution showed that the actions of Healless were premeditated.

Geoff Hurst, Detective Chief Inspector, now retired, worked on the case and said on the programme that after Healless killed Alex, he had been in contact with at least two other people, and had set in motion arrangements to meet them.

On the show Alex's mum, Bev said: "In my opinion the killer should never be let out. He is just too dangerous. I do wonder to this day if it is all put on. Does he actually have paranoid schizophrenia given the fact that he is so calculating and evil?"

Alex's close friend Leon, commented on the show: "We have still not attained justice in a way, and we need to do that."

The show also highlighted issues around the safety of using dating apps and the safety of meeting up with strangers for the first time.

Following the show Lancashire Police issued the following advice: "While nobody should ever be made to feel unsafe, people may want to take precautions such as: arranging to meet somewhere busy; telling a friend or family member where you are going and who you are going with; arranging to call a friend at a certain time so that they know you are safe; and sharing your GPS location with a trusted friend or family member via your smartphone."

People 'come from across county' to see residents' impressive street lights!

Report by Henry James

RESIDENTS of Greetby Hill in Ormskirk say people are coming from "across the county" to see their lights after holding another switch-on event.

During the pandemic last year, the street organised several socially distanced street parties and held a Christmas light switch-on to lift spirits and they have kept up the tradition this year.

Resident Terri Hignett said: "We've kept the tradition up this year, it's brought the whole street together, looks pretty impressive and has people from across the county driving through to take a look!

"We even blast Christmas tunes down the street and hold a festive quiz during the switch on!

"We started with a celebration for VE Day in the first lockdown after enjoying seeing each other during the clapping for the NHS each week.

"None of the street really knew each other all that well before this started.

"The mastermind behind this is a lady called Sharon Smith who started a WhatsApp group for the street in March 2020 as we entered the first lockdown."

College to host Christmas event with stalls, grotto and carols

A SPECIAL Christmas event will be held at West Lancashire College featuring carol singing, Santa's grotto and various stalls selling festive food.

The event has been organised jointly by the Skem First and the Friends of Tawd Valley groups, along with the college, and will take place on Friday, December 10 between 4pm and 8pm.

Skem First online hub was set up to "bridge the gap between businesses, community groups, residents and schools."

This is an evening event that will include: carol singing from local schools and community groups; Christmas cars; festive treats from Gracious Grub & The Whisk & Pickle; ice creams and hot desserts from KJ

Ices; various stallholders; Santa Grotto and meet Santa; Christmas lights; and The Mayor of West Lancashire will be presenting the Skem First Youth Awards.

A spokesperson for the event said: "This festive celebration has been organised by Skem First and The Friends of Tawd Valley and funded with very generous donations from residents, local businesses and West Lancashire Borough Council.

"A huge thank you to everyone who has donated and to West Lancashire College for allowing us the use of their facilities."

It is free to attend the event and while there is parking, organisers asked if people could walk to it, if they are able to.

RSPCA launches winter appeal

THE RSPCA has launched a Christmas appeal for help as the charity is braced for a surge of abandoned and neglected animals as pet ownership soared during lockdown.

Last December, the RSPCA received one call every minute, one report of an abandoned animal every hour, and took 70 rescue animals into RSPCA care every day - despite England and Wales having strict restrictions in place.

During the pandemic, pet ownership has surged with estimates of more than 3.2m people taking on new pets.

To contact the RSPCA cruelty line, call 0300 1234 999.

Police station set to reopen next week after major refurb

Report by Henry James

SKELMERSDALE Police Station on Southway will reopen on Tuesday, December 14 following a major refurbishment.

Chief Inspector Chris Abbott said: "The police station is a massive improvement to the facilities we previously had, which were very dated and simply no longer fit for purpose.

"These new facilities ensure we are well placed to deliver our service to communities, from an operating centre that delivers a modern working environment for our staff who work so hard to keep the area safe. We are all looking forward to coming back to Skelmersdale."

The Skelmersdale front counter will also reopen on December 14, providing a service for people to come in and report an incident, answer their bail conditions, immigration checks and handing over or collecting property.

Opening hours will be Monday – Friday, 9am to 5pm and Saturday and Sunday 9am – 6pm.

Superintendent Gary Crowe with head of estates and facilities management Cristina Marshall

As well as the front counter, the building will provide a base for some of the local policing and response teams and an investigations hub.

Refurbishment started on the site in Summer 2019 and is part of a planned investment in the constabulary estate to ensure police stations are fit for purpose in order to be able to police the communities they serve effectively and provide a quality service.

Andrew Snowden, Lancashire's Police and Crime Commissioner said: "It's great that this vital policing base at the heart of the community is about to reopen, following this important work that ensures the site is fit for purpose and able to support the work officers and staff do to keep us all safe.

"I am committed to delivering on the public's priorities that they consistently tell me they want to see addressed, such as anti-social behaviour and criminal gangs.

"Ensuring we keep on top of our estate and ensure it meets our needs, particularly as we see more officers out on our streets through the government uplift programme, is an important part of my role, as I lead the fight against crime in Lancashire."

The front counter at Ormskirk Police Station will close on Monday, December 12 at 6pm with front counter staff moving back to Skelmersdale.

Firm flies the flag for sports club!

WEST Lancashire Serpents American Flag Football Team have a new sponsor in Gods of Grip.

This small team of around 20 members was looking for a sponsor for a kit so they could get into the American Flag Football League to play competitively at a higher level.

American Flag Football is a non-contact version of American football, where tackles are made by pulling off flags which all players wear on their hips.

Having a kit is one of the requirements to play in the league and financially the West Lancashire team were unable to afford it, so Gods of Grip came to the rescue and a presentation (see picture, left) was held.

£1 parking offer in town centre for festive shoppers

Report by Henry James

IF people are planning on a Christmas shopping spree or meeting with friends for a festive meal in Ormskirk in the run up to Christmas, they can now park for up to five hours for just £1.

Every day this month up to and including Friday, December 24, drivers who pay for parking in borough council car parks in Ormskirk town centre will receive an additional two hours free parking.

This means people can pay just £1 to park for up to five hours instead of three (this does not include Derby Street car park adjacent to the council's offices).

Borough councillor Gaynar Owen, whose cabinet responsibilities include parking, said: "With our great parking offer you can spend even more time in town for just £1, meaning more money in your pocket in what can be a very expensive time of year."

"You'll get a warm welcome from local businesses as they continue their recovery from the pandemic and we encourage you to support them by shopping locally where you can."

"With everything Ormskirk has to offer this Christmas, you'll be spoilt for choice."

Motorists should check car park signage to make sure it is council-controlled and display the valid

Notices explaining the offer will be displayed on the tariff boards adjacent to the pay and display machines.

The two extra free hours will not be shown on the ticket. Council Civil Parking Enforcement Officers are aware of the offer and will allow for the extra two hours.

Parking is free of charge on Council-controlled car parks in Ormskirk town centre on Sundays and Bank Holidays throughout the year.

Tarleton Academy to be 'net zero' carbon emitting facility

Facility to feature triple glazed windows, solar panels and heat pumps

Report by Henry James

TARLETON Academy school will be 'net zero carbon' in operation, say the firm behind the development.

The £25million academy for 750 pupils will be built by contractor Willmott Dixon on land adjacent to the existing school, which will remain in use until the new building is open in September 2023.

West Lancashire Borough Council's Planning Committee approved the proposals for the new school in September of this year subject to conditions.

A council report stated: "The proposed development will facilitate enhanced education accommodation for teaching and sports facilities and the principle of development is thus supported."

The school will include 36 classrooms as well as a range of sports facilities such as a 20metre swimming pool for use by the school and local community, and a new fitness suite.

The replacement multi-use games area would be used by the school and the community.

A computerised image of how the new Tarleton Academy will look.

Three full-size netball courts and four tennis courts would be provided. This space could be used for other sports as required.

Willmott Dixon said the academy will be "net-zero carbon" in operation and this will be achieved using an "enhanced building envelope" to maximize air tightness, alongside triple glazed windows.

It will also benefit from renewable energy generation comprising both ground source and air source heat pumps.

The roof will also feature solar panels.

Willmott Dixon in the North managing director Anthony Dillon said: "We are delighted to be working with the Department for Education at Tarleton Academy to deliver a world class learning environment, which will be net zero carbon in operation."

"Sustainability is at the forefront of our business."

Scam warning over fake Omicron tests

PEOPLE are being warned about a bogus social media post encouraging people to apply for Omicron Covid-19 tests.

The county council's Trading Standards team has received reports of the posts, which ask people to 'Apply now for an Omicron PCR test to avoid restrictions'.

There is in fact no NHS test being offered specifically aimed at the Omicron variant of Covid-19.

The posts contain a link which leads to a fake NHS website, which may ask for payment or bank details.

Anyone receiving social media posts or emails which offer Omicron coronavirus tests or similar should forward them to report@phishing.gov.uk

County Councillor Peter Buckley, cabinet member for community and cultural services, said: "It's barely a week since the first cases of the Omicron variant of Covid-19 were reported in the UK and the scammers are on to it already."

"Omicron is very worrying to many people and it's awful that these crooks are preying on people's concerns and vulnerabilities to get their personal details."

"Once these fraudsters have your details, they can commit identity theft, take money from your account, or pass them on to organised crime networks, so it's vital you don't reply and report them as soon as possible."

"There is no specific test for this variant of Covid-19. If you want to get tested, you need a general coronavirus test, details are available from the NHS website."

Information on how to get a PCR test if people have Covid symptoms can be found at www.gov.uk/get-coronavirus-test or by calling 119.

To keep up to date with the latest scam alerts, follow the county council's Scambuster Stan page on Facebook.

People can contact the Trading Standards Service via the Citizens Advice Consumer Helpline on 0800 223 1133.

Plea for better disabled access at village church

'It is cruel that some people cannot attend funeral services of loved ones or friends'

Report by Henry James

DISABLED access should be improved at a church in Halsall so wheelchair users can attend services, says a villager.

Raymond Brookfield said he first raised the issue with St Cuthbert's Church three years ago, after he attended a funeral and two wheelchair users had to be carried up the steps at the entrance to the churchyard.

He said he brought up his concerns with the vicar at the time and later with the Bishop and Archdeacon and Halsall Parish Council but with no satisfactory outcome.

Mr Brookfield said: "The disabled should be able to attend church for the happy times like weddings and christenings and the church services.

"It is cruel they cannot attend the funerals of their loved ones or friends.

"The alterations required to remedy the access for the disabled could be done within a few weeks.

"The work is at the entrance to the churchyard at the lych gates, and would involve removing part of the five steps and ramping the access.

"So please whoever is in charge of the church make it happen so the disabled can attend this wonderful church on the hill with dignity and compassion."

St Cuthbert's Church, Halsall

A spokesman for The Diocese of Liverpool said: "We take the access to our buildings for all churchgoers extremely seriously.

"An Inspecting Surveyor has reviewed access to St Cuthbert's Church.

"They have looked at how best to ensure ease of access to the church and its grounds, including remodelling the paths and installing a platform lift.

"This review takes into consideration the gradient of the path, the lych gate structure plus the potential excavation in the churchyard as early burials may be encountered, even under the pathways. A simple ramp would not suffice."

Historian's second book on Bob Dylan shows how the times are still 'a changin'

Report by Henry James

AUTHOR, historian and Bob Dylan fan, George Orr has written the second volume of his book showing how the times have been 'a changin' during the career of the famous American singer.

Bob Dylan A Nobel 80: An English Fans Scrapbook Part 2 covers the last five years of the singer's career and is written 'by a fan for other fans.'

It contains many newspaper, magazine and other news clippings from around the world documenting what Bob Dylan has done from July 2016 to July 2021.

The first volume, published in 2016, and covers the time from 1963-2016.

George, from Skelmersdale, has seen Dylan many times since 1978 and it took him five years to complete the book.

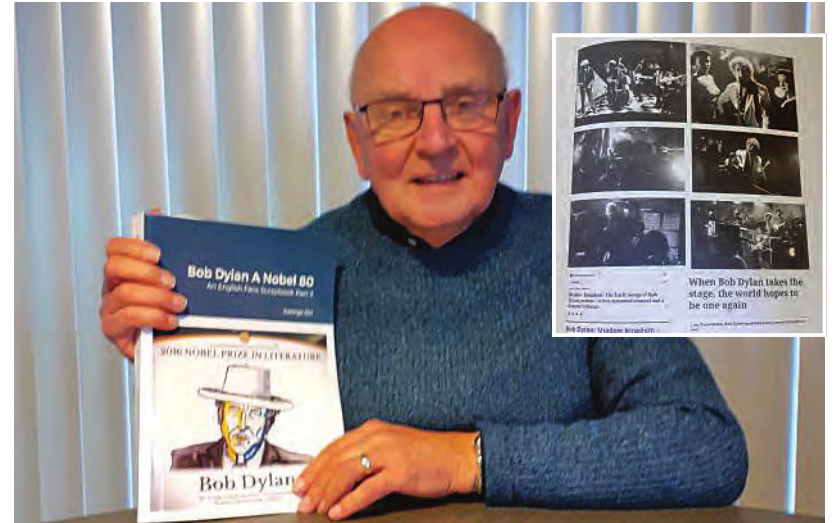

He said: "I collected all the magazine and newspaper articles and I get alerts from various Bob Dylan websites and buy everything that is available."

"I have written it in a diary style format, month by month year by year so it is easier to read and follow."

"In October 2016 Bob was awarded the Nobel Prize for Literature, and more than 300 newspapers worldwide had it on their front page, even though the majority did not have English as their first language."

"Dylan has released albums and been on tour during this period, including a show in Liverpool."

"There has also been a West End play,

George Orr with his new book which is now on Broadway featuring his music.

"All of this and many more items relating to Bob Dylan are covered in the book including how he becomes the first artist to have a Top 40 Album in every decade since the 1960s on the Billboard 200 and a wonderful letter in the Duluth News Tribune, so sad but beautiful, from a local resident describing how Bob's music affected both her and her mother."

Dylan plans to tour worldwide until 2024 and George hopes to see him in the UK.

He added: "Dylan live is a game of chance, he does not do a 'Greatest Hits' Show and that upsets some people."

"I was at the largest attended live concert in England, Bob Dylan's Picnic at Blackbushe Airport in Surrey on July 15 1978, attended by more than 250,000 people, and it was brilliant."

George has also published five books on Everton FC, and four on the history of Skelmersdale.

Bob Dylan A Nobel 80: An English Fans Scrapbook Part 2 is an A4 size publication with 370 pages, and is priced £24.95. It can be bought at Lulu.com and there is free postage on Ebay in the UK.

Scarlsbrick Swords.

Future points to success for Swords after tough two years

Report by Henry James

FENCING club Scarlsbrick Swords has returned to competitive success after coming through two turbulent years.

The difficulties have included three changes of venue, pandemic regulations, equipment shortages and staff personnel changes.

However, despite this, the club has enjoyed the continued support of the parents and members who have truly appreciated its value.

Top of the list of achievements this year is the England Fencing number one ranking for U14 girls epee category for Katy Hawthorne.

The club has also achieved four series winners in the national Youth Series: Katy Hawthorne (U14), Grace Michell (U17), James Hughes (U17) and Edward Neophytou (U10) and two series runners up: Harry Marsden (U17) and Michael Neophytou (U12). Annabelle Aldwinckle (U14), meanwhile, won a bronze medal in her very first tournament.

The achievements continued with the selection of Sophia Neophytou and Grace Michell for the North West Ladies U17 team at the Cadet Winton Cup, the annual inter-regional tournament which is being restarted after being cancelled last year.

In addition, James Hughes has been selected for the Welsh team.

Club coaches David Stobbs and Paul Michell, say they are delighted with the progress but have their sights set firmly on extending this success to even greater heights.

A spokesman for Scarlsbrick Swords said: "Scarlsbrick Swords is a not-for-profit community sports club which aims to promote the sport, particularly for young people, and to use fencing to improve the health and well-being of all those who take part."

Members meet on Thursday evenings at the Southport YMCA. For more information email info@scarlsbrickswords.co.uk.

Local Plan may be our last chance to influence decisions

I totally agree with the comments made in the Champion letters page of December 1 about the West Lancashire Local Plan.

It appears that most of our agricultural land or greenfield sites are up for grabs to developers, whose only interest is in building houses for profit, with little or no consideration for the villages or hamlets that stand in their way.

Surveys have found that the need for more houses in most West Lancashire rural areas is unproven for local residents.

Further development is unsustainable, given the lack of essential retail, medical or transport facilities in many local areas.

We would urge all interested parties to make their views known.

This may be the only opportunity we have to influence decisions which will impact on village life for generations to come.

Downholland

Sad closure of heritage group

I read with sadness that the Burscough Heritage Group has decided to close.

I would like to thank its members for promoting the history of the town and the canal that runs through it over the past ten years.

In addition to all their activities such as organising events, meetings and school visits I have been particularly appreciative of the information boards and the benches that they had located around the town.

Diane Edwards,
Burscough

Lack of traffic control caused chaos after sewer collapse

The collapse of a sewer on Derby Street, Ormskirk recently closed the one-way system around the town centre for around two weeks.

At the same time, another collapse caused the closure of Square Lane, Burscough (A5209) for the same period.

The A5209 links the A59 with the M6 via Parbold.

Traffic in both directions was diverted along Junction Lane, which has a restriction over the railway bridge that reduces traffic to a single lane, controlled by traffic lights to alternate directions of travel.

The lights-controlled junction at the lower end of Junction Lane with the A59 involves sharp turns, left for Ormskirk- and Southport-bound traffic and right for M6-bound traffic.

There was no forewarning in place for the closure of Square Lane; there were just 'road closed' and 'diversion' signs at both ends of the diversion.

Traffic along Junction Lane was extremely heavy and slow moving, spilling out onto roads at both ends.

In Ormskirk, there was a 'road closed' sign on Derby Street and a 'diversion' sign directing traffic down Burscough Road. At the end of the road were two diversion signs, directing traffic right towards Burscough (into the traffic jam) and one directing traffic left, back towards where much traffic had come from, with no destinations shown.

Some drivers didn't turn left onto Burscough Road from Derby Street, but turned into the car park and through to Railway Road then left to Derby Street, causing danger to users of the car park.

Drivers, who had no local knowledge, of through traffic towards Wigan, St Helens and the M58 had no choice but to join the apparent merry-go-round via Bursough Road.

Where was the county council's highway department in managing traffic flows?

It might not be so depressing if that same department wasn't behind the road narrowing works that will be imposed on Derby Street early in the New Year.

Are we to expect the same lack of control then?

Roger Clayton,
Lathom

Help children in hospital have a good Christmas

Being in hospital is difficult enough for any of us, but for children, being in hospital at Christmas, a time that should be happy, full of excitement and spent with family, can be heart-breaking.

Restrictions are still firmly in place in hospitals, meaning children are only able to have one parent with them at a time, and are separated from their brothers and sisters.

It can be a very lonely time.

However, there is a way to help.

Having access to toys and fun things to do in hospital can help a child cope with the anxiety of separation and treatment, reduce the long-term emotional damage of serious illness, and bring joy back into their lives, and that's exactly what children's charity Starlight does.

However, our research shows that more than half of all UK hospitals are without the budget or resources they need to make play happen for children in their care.

Toys that Starlight provides can make all the difference.

They can often go from being scared of tests and procedures, to looking forward to hospital appointments so that they can play with the toys and the wonderful NHS play specialists.

The transformation we see can be incredible.

But sadly, this is only happening in some hospitals, when it should be happening in all.

This Christmas, we are urging your readers to support the charity's Time to Play Christmas campaign, so that we can raise vital funds to ensure that all seriously ill children have the sense of escape, distraction, and joy of play in hospital, at the time they need it most.

Starlight is committed to providing essential toys, games and books to an additional 300 hospitals that don't currently have play resources and are most urgently in need of our support, but we can only do that with your help.

Please visit www.starlight.org.uk/timetoplay to help us bring back joy into the lives of seriously ill children this Christmas.

Whatever you are able to give will be so appreciated.

Cathy Gilman,
Starlight.

Property tax a fairer way of raising revenue given rising house prices

I could not agree more with Janet Ingman's letter that the laws need to change to stop people avoiding tax by hiding it offshore.

However, I also have sympathy for the idea of a property tax.

Michael Heseltine introduced the Council Tax to replace the proposed and unpopular community charge, commonly known as the poll tax.

He says in his autobiography that the head of the prime minister's policy unit was insistent that there should be a cut-off point, so that the value categories (Bands A to H) did not continue on and up beyond a certain threshold.

This means council tax paid by somebody living in a multi-million-pound property is a maximum of just three times that of the humblest abode.

There has been an explosion in the value of many homes mainly in London so that now over half a million homes are valued at more than a million pounds and by 2030 there will be three times as many.

I would not want to see a change in the Council Tax system, but a few people have been unhampered by a tax in proportion to the value of their property for up to 30 years.

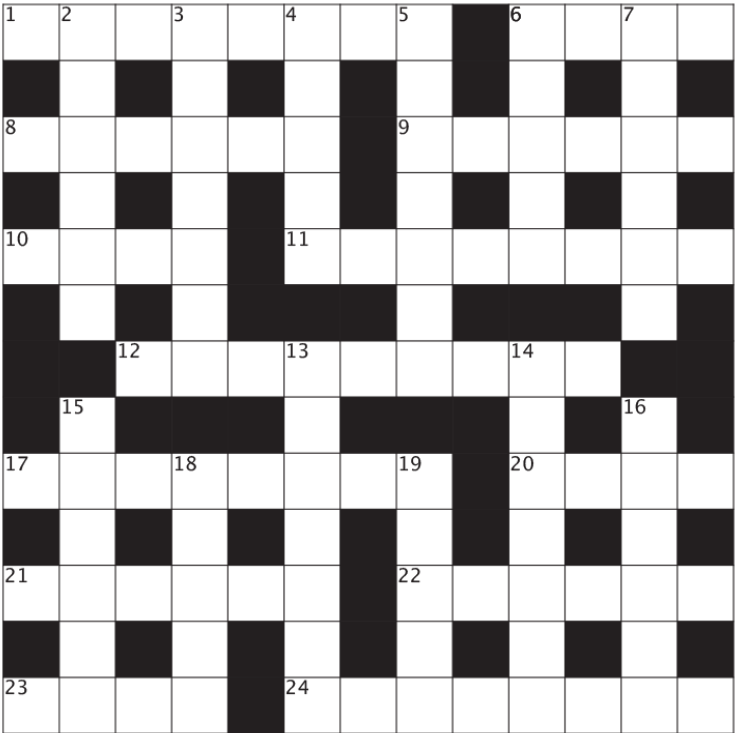

So, I would like to see a tax on property.

It will not happen because so many MPs of all colours own properties worth more than a million pounds.

Together with our partners, we will work to promote the charity sector positively always striving to make a better campaign and perception of the charity sector. To be a winning team, we need to take care of each other and ourselves. Asking for and offering each other help makes us more efficient and reduces frustration.

Core Value 4 HONESTY

We believe in truthfulness, sincerity and frankness. Freedom from all deceit or fraud. Those that we work with will know that we will defend what the campaign stands for.

Core Value 5 COMMUNICATION

Especially when it is hard to, having hard conversations are, by definition difficult, but that is also why they are essential. Points of conflict are where we most need to be able to have a respectful exchange so that we can do right by the campaign, staff members and partners.

Burscough defended well in difficult conditions.

Lomax fires five star Linnets to thumping victory in the storm

Burscough 5
Wythenshawe Town 1

A SPIRITED Burscough team had too much energy for fellow promotion chasers Wythenshawe at a windswept Community Ground, treating those who braved the elements to a Saturday afternoon goal feast, writes Neil Leatherbarrow.

Despite being dragged back to 1-1 after a very early lead, the Linnets then pressed the accelerator down to lead 4-1 at the interval, before a late goal by man of the match George Lomax completed the nap hand.

Wythenshawe had started the day in third place, just one place behind Skelmersdale in the North West Counties Premier Division, the result leaving Paul Bowes team just a point behind them.

It was George Lomax who had ignited Burscough in the opening minute rounding visiting goalkeeper Ricardo Longato, before being brought to ground by the keeper, allowing Declan Daniels to slam home the ensuing spot kick.

Wythenshawe are a decent outfit and they equalised in the 12th minute.

Burscough thundered back within a minute, Luke Denson cutting in off the right side before firing home from 20 yards to make it 2-1 to the hosts.

Without his brother Chris in the team it was down to George Lomax to keep the family flag flying and he was leading the Wythenshawe defence a merry dance and on 26 minutes he made it 3-1. Holding the ball up with a defender behind him Lomax twisted away from his marker then lifted a wonderful effort over keeper Longato to give Burscough some breathing space.

Tommy Williams made it four for Burscough five minutes before the interval, his curling shot from 20 yards out bringing plenty of cheers from the crowd huddled in the stand.

Burscough had to be at their best defensively in the second-half.

Burscough had to be at their best defensively in the second-half as Wythenshawe pushed forward with the intention of salvaging at least some pride on the day, but with goalkeeper Jack Reynolds at the fulcrum of their backline Burscough held firm.

Wythenshawe relied on pace up front for many of their offensive moves but the home defence prevented them from getting behind them.

When Lomax bagged his second of the day by rolling the ball into the Wythenshawe net nine minutes from the end he was congratulated by almost the entire team and justifiably so, but really the whole Burscough team deserve praise for this one, which keeps hopes of a play off place very much alive.

Burscough are not in action again until Saturday, December 18 when Longridge Town are the visitors.

Skem named Team of the Month in North West Counties League

SKELMERSDALE UNITED has been named as the North West Counties League 'Team of the Month' for November.

Although not officially announced it is expected that the presentation to manager Paul McNally will take place prior to the game on Saturday, December 11 at home to Padiham.

Skelmersdale continue their duel at the top of the Premier Division with Macclesfield when they play Padiham at the JMO Sports Park.

Paul McNally's team will start as favourites because Padiham are struggling to avoid relegation, currently sitting four off the bottom of the table, just four points clear of relegation.

However those basic statistics hide the real position, Padiham will be fairly tough opposition, as they have won three out of their last six games and are battling hard to extricate themselves from their perilous position.

After Saturday, they don't have another game until Monday, December 27.

Christmas Church Services

From carol services to midnight mass, nativities to Christingles, there are events and services taking place at churches across the local area this Christmas to celebrate the birth of Jesus.

Christmas is one of the loveliest times to visit a church and your local church may well have lots of things to see and do this festive season – great for helping children to understand the meaning behind all the food and gifts, while having some fun too.

To find out more about what’s happening at your local church, look no further...

Christmas Star

A diamond shines no brighter than that lovely Christmas star,
It shines in all its brilliance it’s seen from near to far.
A symbol of the Christ child as He lays upon the hay,
To tell all the waiting world a King was born that day.
O Bethlehem Star keep shining – give us faith and hope and love,
Keep our thoughts forever turning to the saviour up above.
Give us strength and hope and courage to do our best by far,
And never falter in our faith as we watch the Christmas star.

Champion MOTORS

An increase of 12,663.64% doesn't even sound like a real number!

MG sales are up by 73 per cent year-on-year

CUPRA'S sales people must be delighted. They've achieved the sort of mind-numbing numbers that'd make a Zimbabwean banker wince.

You see, an increase of 12,663.64 per cent doesn't even sound like a real number, unless it's the proportion of the British population to have streamed Adele's latest album, but it is, according to the Society of Motor Manufacturers and Traders, entirely legit. SEAT's go-faster spinoff brand, you see, has sold a shade more than 7,000 new cars in the UK this year, compared to just 55 over the same period in 2020. Its star is definitely in the ascendancy, especially as its all-electric Born is in the running for European Car of the Year.

But Cupra's figure one of the weird outliers – the other one being Polestar, which is still getting into its stride and thus managed a 500 per cent increase despite only selling 3,663 cars here – in an overall market where new car registrations are up on a lockdown-tastic 2020, but only just. Hats off to Hyundai and Kia for pulling off some of the more meaningful increases, with the former managing to shift just under 65,000 cars compared to 44,000 last year, whereas Jaguar, Ford and Alfa Romeo in particular will have been had a stern "See me after class" scrawled across their freshly marked homework, with each around 20 per cent down on this time last year. It used to be a given that Ford's Fiesta was the nation's best-selling new car but now it's down to eighth place, having been overtaken not just by Vauxhall's Corsa but the Polo, Golf, Qashqai and MINI among others.

But the real winner, in my book, is MG because it's managed to flog 29,474 new cars here so far this year, compared to just under 17,000 this time last year – okay, it's not 12,500 per cent, but a 73 per cent uplift for a company that was already selling a serious

www.lifeoncars.co.uk

number of cars to begin with is impressive stuff. Once you strip out the performance-focused brands for whom even a tiny uplift can skew the numbers – I'm looking at you, Alpine – I reckon that's probably the moral victor in the SMMT's numbers, and I reckon it's almost entirely to do with electric cars.

All-electric cars – or BEVs, in the number cruncher's lingo – now account for 18.8 per cent of the UK car market, meaning that the amount of them that we're buying has nearly doubled over the past 12 months. If I ran a dealership specialising entirely in diesel cars, on the other hand, I'd probably be reaching for the Jack Daniels right about now – derv-burner sales are down a dizzying 63 per cent.

That I reckon, is the real reason behind some of the numbers here – MG has made all-electric crossovers its schtick, while Kia and Hyundai both have zero emissions offerings in the running for European Car of the Year. So does Ford, of course, with the Mustang Mach-E, but that's the only one it offers and it starts at £45k. The poor old Fiesta doesn't come in electric form, but the Corsa and MINI do.

That's where the numbers are making a difference. The real question is, can Cupra pull off another 12,500 per cent sale increase next year? No pressure, chaps...

David Simister is the editor of Classic Car Weekly
